

SAMHSA Center for Substance Abuse Prevention Student Internship Program-Deadline: December 9, 2009

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Substance Abuse Mental Health Services Administration's (SAMHSA) Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) announces a new internship program for graduate students and is accepting applications to select up to 30 qualified students from schools of public, behavioral and allied health.

The Graduate Student Internship is a program component of CSAP's Prevention Fellowship Program. Interns receive a stipend of $15 per hour and work a 40 hour week for 48 weeks in state health agencies with mentor supervision. The internship provides hands-on experience and web-based training to improve their skills and knowledge of substance prevention practices.

Program details and how to apply online can be found at www.seiservices.com/samhsa/csap.
